TEHERAN, IRAN

Friends

Just before leaving my home station of Sultanabad, I received the August edition of the Service Bulletin, which was interesting indeed and highly appreciated.

I am spending a short furlough here in the largest city of Iran. It is quite modern in some respects, but there is nothing here to compare with The States.

It will be a happy day when we can all come home and lead a normal life again.

You are doing a splendid job of keeping us informed of the "home-front" and I shall continue to look forward to receiving the next copy of the bulletin. Thanks again.

Sincerely
Ed. Steinmeyer
